Bashful Men.

We never saw a bashful man who was not the soul of honor. Though such may blush and stammer, and shing their shoulders awkwardly, uusble to throw forth with ease the thoughts they would express, yet com-mend them to us for friends. There are fine tonelos in their character which time will wellow and loing out perceptions delicate as the faintest tints to the unfolding rose; and their thoughts are none the less relined and beautiful that they do not flow with the impetnosity of the streamlet. We are astonished that such men are not appreciated-that ladies with really good hearts and cultivated intellects will reward the gallant Sir Mustachio Braialess with stoiles and attention because he can fold a shawl gracefully and bandy compliments with Persian elegancy, while they would not condescend to look upon the worthier man who feels for them a reverence so him cornered, she began who feels for them a reverence so Mr. Blank, you have bearded with me for a long time, and never bettee. The man who is bashfel in the presexce of ladies is their defender when the losse toughe of the slanderer would defante them; it is not he who boasts of conquests or dares to talk of leelings that exist in the imagination alone; his cheek will thish with resentment so on, and some of my boarders lear that you have taken to drink,

Mein Gett!

In the suit of Gott vs. Gott, pending in the Warren Circuit Court, in taking dispositions a few days since one of the attorneys asked the witness the lidlowing questions:

"Now eat you tell of your own knowledge, whether J. F. Gut got is the same us to say, Dance, the sons and daughters of men.

33. And they did dance; and order the goods he got from Moses that in the way of a collection for logs d. F. Golf got off ties he got from M. Gott or whether he got from Gott the goods he got from Gott on an order he got from Gott for logs, which Gott had got from M. Gott?"

The witness said he thought it did but the answer was not considered sufficiently explicit and by common consent the question was referred to the Circuit Judge.

Ague Cure

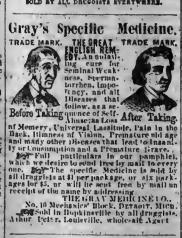

high fever and profuse perspiration.

It is a startling fact, that quinine, arsenic, and other poisonous uninerals form the hashs of most of the "Fever and Ague Preparations," "Specifies," "Syraps," and "Tonies," in the market. The preparations made from these mineral poisons, although they are palatable, and may break the child, do not cure, but leave the malarial and their own itrug poison in the nystem, producing quiniam, dizziness, ringing in the ears, beadache, vertigo, and other disorders more formidable than the disease fley were intended to cure. Aven's Amer Cozer thoroughly cradicates these nations poissues from the agricultary the advance of the severest cases. It contains no quialne, mineral, or any thing that could riper the most defente patient; and its crowning excellence, alays its certainty to core, is that it leaves the ayaren as tree from disease as before the attack.

For Liver Complaints, Aven's Acre, Crar, by direct action on the liver and billary apparatus, drives out the poisons which produce these complaints, and stimulates the aystem 10 a vigorous, healthy condition.

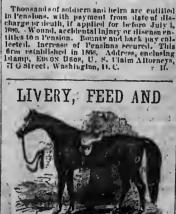

We warrant it when taken according to directions.
